NO BENEFIT TO THIS CITY

RECENT DEALS CUT INDIANAPOLIS OUT OF AT LEAST TWO ROADS.

The Tonnage of Freight Moving Never Exceeded Except in 1898-General and Personal Notes.

"If the reports regarding the Monon are true, they mean that the projected road from Cloverdale, on its main line, to Indianapolis will not be built, although the route had practically been located, and but for this deal would have been built this season,' said one of the Monon officials. Present indications are that it will be many years before this city will get another railroad. As soon as any move is made to build a new road from the southern part of the State to Indianapolis the Pennsylvania, as in the case of the Rockport road, sets its forces at work to defeat the scheme, and the same is said to have been true of the Logansport road. In this connection the Monon deal puts a check on another enterprise which would have benefited Brazil as well as Indianapolis, as it had been planned, and in fact surveys were in progress to extend the Center Point branch of the Vandalia from the present terminus of that branch through the coal mines, stones quarries and timber lands in Greene and other counties to a connection with the Indianapolis & Vincennes, invading some of the territory which the Monon's Cloverdale line would have touched. The latter project will now doubtless be abandoned, as but little progress had been made other than to map | 150 feet each, with a draw of 350 feet, and out a new line. A more direct line is much needed between Fort Wayne and Indianapolis, but the combinations of railways have now become so strong that almost any project undertaken, unless backed by local capitalists, would be thwarted, and in that case local capitalists would likely be bought dianapolis will, for the present, have to content itself with the fifteen lines it now has, which will be owned, when pending deals | The Chicago & Rock Island has arranged TANSEL-Mr. Mines Tansel died April 23, aged are completed, by the Vanderbilts or the to hold its train at Kansas City to wait the new six-hundred-barrel spring wheat mill Decatur & Western.

> Traffic Limited by Cars. The train records show that in the week ending April 22 there were received and crossing the Northern Ohio tracks at Lima, forwarded at Indianapolis 25,262 cars, 20,391 being loaded. West-bound business is made up of merchandise of the higher class and of iron and steel products, glass, coal, coke and heavy groceries, largely for Western and Southwestern points. The north-and-suoth roads are doing more business than for some years past in the spring of the year. This is due to the prosperity of car works and the increased demand for Southern pine lumber and hardwood timber. Shipments of provisions, merchandise and mausual, and the volume of transcontinental accounts of the retiring agent. line business is heavier than usual in April. The most marked increase, however, is in packing houses, cerealine mills, starch works and stock yards seldom have been as heavy shippers. In fact, in all classes of freights there is a healthy movement. Cars are still scarce; especially is this true of furniture, hay and cars to carry vehicles. It is said that occasionally passenger agents in the Western States receive applications from some citizens of Utah, asking for transportation for John Smith and wives. While they may refuse to make the ticket out for plurality of wives, Smith's women get the benefit, as he can select any one of them he chooses to take with him on the trip. Once a ticket was made out for Samuel Sunster and wives; the conductor of the train was rather unwilling to permit five wives to ride on one ticket, but he had to carry them all, as Sunster was ready to swear they were all his women.

The millwright shop is now temporarily quartered in the substantial new brick building recently completed fect that rates on grain for export and for | for the planing mill department. The new millwright shop will be of brick, two stories high, 252 feet long and 55 feet wide. Work on the foundations for this building will begin this week. Other improvements planned will be carried forward as rapidly as possible and an effort will be made to have most of the work finished by next winter. The buhr stone mill department will move this week into the new two-story brick building recently completed.

> At this time of the year millers are overhauling and remodeling their mills and many new mills are built preparatory for the new crop of wheat. There is unusual activity in that direction and as a consequence the Nordyke & Marmon Company is enjoying a largely increased trade. The company has made improvements in milling machines which greatly simplifies the bolting system, reduces the cost of manufacturing flour and improves its quality. Many mills are being changed to the new system and there is a lively demand for the swing sifter, the latest bolting machine. The new Atlanta, Ga., mill, having a daily capacity of 1,200 barrels of flour and 3,000 bushels of corn goods, was started successfully about thirty days ago. The Nordyke & Marmon Company has also just completed a new three hundred-barrel mill for the Frontenac Milling Company, of Kingston, Ont., and Dominion of Canada. The foreign department is receiving many inquiries and orders have been received from nearly all parts of the world. Among the foreign orders received by the Nordyke & Marmon Company recently are the fol-lowing: A cablegram on Tuesday last from Baku, on the Caspian sea, Russia, ordering three portable French buhr mills; an order from Odessa, Russia, for ten flour packers; one from Hamburg, Germany, for a fine corn goods milling equipment; several orders for milling machinery from points in Mexico; one from Falmouth, Jamaica, one from Havana, Cuba, one from Caracas, Vene-zuela, one from the interior of Colombia, South America, and others from Bogota,

Industrial Notes. At the Standard wheel works, West Indianapolls, there are over 300 men on the pay rolls. Considerable difficulty is experienced in keeping up with orders. The Brown-Ketcham iron works at Haughville is having a good run of business and expects in the next few days to close several good contracts, some of them on The Hildebrand Hardware Company will on May 1 remove its stock to the Claypool building, No. 34 South Meridian street, and will then have about double the floor room it now has in the Schnull block. Some idea of the business of the Atlas Express Company at West Liberty, O., has engine works is doing is shown in the fact that for some months past over two hundred loaded cars have been handled each month on the switch of the company.

The National malleable iron works at Haughville is employing more men than at any former period. There are over 700 men at work and all the furnaces are running, with three more than during any corresponding period of last year. The Parry Manufacturing Company in March last sold a larger number of vehicles than in any former month since the works were established, and this month will sell more than in March. At Indianapolis and Connersville the company has nearly 2,000 The Indiana Car and Foundry Company has 200 men at work. The company is now building 200 cars for the Matther Palace Car Stock Company and is doing a good deal of repairing of fast-freight-line cars, with good prospects for plenty of work for some months to come. The shops of the Indiana, Decatur & Western Railway Company are now giving employment to more men than at any former period and have three Indiana, Decatur & Western engines and five Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton engines to rebuild, which means a good business all summer. That Indianapolis industries are prosperous is evidenced by the fact that there are 33 per cent. more switching engines in service at Indianapolis handling the business on the private switches, which now number 284, than there were one year ago and double the number of two years ago.

The Acme Milling Company will this week complete extensive improvements to the original mill, having put in four 125 horsepower boilers. For two months past the company has been running only one of its mills, but should the market continue to improve next month will run both mills. The Lieber Art Company now has 160 peotrain between Jersey City and Chicago, via | ple on its pay rolls, the largest force ever employed. The company has an extensive erstown, before many months, is found in | trade on the Pacific coast, and with each year its export business is on the increase. President Lieber says the company has some idea of considerably enlarging the plant in the near future.

General Manager Landers, of the United States Encaustic Tile Company, says that concern is enjoying the largest business in the history of the plant, employing more people and working full time. The company is now filling a number of orders for New England cities and towns and has en extensive trade in the Northwest.

The furniture manufacturers are talking more cheerfully of their business. For four years they experienced hard sledding, so many concerns failed and flooded the market with bankrupt goods. These are now out of the way and the manufacturers are experiencing little trouble in disposing of all the goods they can turn out. The same remark will apply to the chair manufactur-

The summerlike weather has given new life to the bicycle trade, and the several works are now crowded with orders. Captain Coghlan Doesn't Care. NEW YORK, April 22.-The Army and Navy Club gave a reception to Captain Coghlan and the officers of the United States cruiser Raleigh at the clubhouse tonight. Captain Coghlan made a speech, in which he reiterated what he had said before the Union League Club on Friday night. He said, in part: "I feel inclined to say only a few words this evening, because and Scott substituted. at by some one at Washington, who protested at what I said. What I did say last night was true, and what I said I will say again. [Great applause.] I said it because being nagged at Manila. We were nearly nagged to death. There is such a thing as being nagged too far-and, dem, we were ready for them. I had read a great deal in the newspapers of what occurred at various places in the Philippines, and I thought that the newspapers had not placed that grand old man, Admiral Dewey, in the proper light, and that is the reason thought I was justified in placing him in the proper light. 'My remarks in the papers were garbled. will not say they were incorrect in substance or untrue, but they were distorted and twisted so as to put a different meaning in them. If any one will reason a lit tle they will understand our situation. were all away from home a long time. all showed Admiral Dewey we were with him thoroughly and heartily. We felt that we were being littled and nagged unti our patience could stand it no longer. admiral was a man who could stand it a

The score: I said last night although I am willing to do it, because I do not want the unenviable reputation of being a one-speech man. I would place our Admiral and our officers in the right light. We were all able and more than ready to uphold the honor of our country and stand by our admiral. No matter what the difficulty was, there was no man in the country more able to meet it than our gallant admiral. A voice, ['He's a Jim Dandy.'] You are right, he is a 'Jim Dandy.' No matter what the occasion was or what the difficulty might be, he always rose su-perior to it. In all his work there he never made a mistake. We at home make mistakes in telling about it, but he who was on the spot committed no error,'

Marconi System Test. CHICAGO, April 22.-Prof. Jerome J. Green, the new disciple of Marconi, sat at his receiving instrument placed on the eighth floor of the Marquette building tonight, and received telegraphic signals sent via the air line from the Tribune building, two blocks away. It meant success for his wireless telegraphy experiment for that distance, and was a triumph for the young scientist over conditions which were exceedingly unfavorable. The first test of the day, when an attempt was made to communicate from the Dearborn Station at Polk street to the Tribune building, had proved a failure. Subsequent investigation disclosed the fact that local disturbances at the sending station probably were responsible. In the second experiment, signals were transmitted clearly and accurately from one room to another through walls and three thick doors. The second test sent the dots and dashes to the sounder across Dearborn street to the Hartford building instantaneously and without a break. Then Prof. Green consented to make the test over the long distance and the apparatus was transferred to the Marquette building, a distance of about 150 yards. The vertical wire was lowered from the sixteenth floor and the receiver was placed on the eighth floor. When all was ready for the trial word was sent through the telephone to the sending station, where the professor's assistant, Albert Kachur, was waiting the command. The trial was a success. Further experiments will be made on Mon-

MUNCIE, Ind., April 22.-The report here that there were several hundred cases of smallpox at Louisville, Ky., and New Albany caused considerable excitement today, as this city has passed through the horrors of one epidemic and the possibility of another was the theme of general conversation until the following telegrams were received, the contents of which somewhat allayed the fears: "Louisville, Ky., April 22.-Mayor Tubey,

Damages for Being Shot. CONNERSVILLE, Ind., April 22.-While out hunting a few months ago, William Piper, of near Fairview, this county, ac-cidently shot John H. Brown in the face. It was at first thought that Brown was fatally hurt, but he recovered, although totally blind from the effects of the shot. To-day, through his attorneys, he filed suit for $5,000 damages, charging Piper with gross negligence.

YESTERDAY'S GAME WAS CLOSE ENOUGH TO AROUSE THE ROOTERS.

As an Exhibition It Was a Success -Hogriever's Indulgence in a Gloat.

About a thousand people went out to the ball grounds yesterday to have a nice, quiet time looking at an exhibition game between the home team and the Indianapolis Reserves, but before it was over found themselves rooting real regular midsummer roots of the most virulent kind, mainly for the minor team. The gentlemen from the canal bank played as if each man expected to go home with a scalp to hang before his tepee, and came very near carrying out his intentions. As it was, Allen's outfit won the game by only one run. The Reserves opened up on Uncle Ramsey from the start, and at the end of the second inning, when five runs had been scored, he was led to the stable

Mr. Scott, serenely conscious of his ability, laid them in over the plate with the gentle motion of a Delsartean student, and I felt it. I am certain we all felt that we for his first inning up they couldn't find him at all and three men struck out. After that the slow ball seemed to lose some of its subtlety, and a combination of hits, bases on balls and incoherent fielding ran the Reserves' score up to within one of a tie in the eighth inning, while the crowd on the bleachers waked up to the fact that here was the first opportunity for practice offered this spring. Kind "good-byes" were wafted to "Dooley, the Terrible Turk," as some friend in the grand stand called him, when Chauncey Fisher was put in the box in the fifth inning. However, Dooley held them, hot ones and all. Hogriever, who hadn't signed yet, was the first man before Chauncey, who would fain have stricken "Hoggie" out, but this was not to be. In the next inning Hogriever was again at bat and knocked out a two-base hit and on an his auditors, Captain Coghlan raised his grinned and grinned at Fisher W. B. The team will play De Pauw at Greencastle this afternoon. Posters announcing that Amos Rusie would pitch for Indianapolis have been put up in and about Greencastle, an act with which the Indianapolis management had nothing to do Dahlen, the Brooklyn's new third baseman, will eventually develop into one of the most popular players on that team if he continues to do the great playing he did the opening game in Brooklyn, says the New York World. Dahlen accepted eleven chances at third base, and, as some of them were certainly difficult ones, the rooters showed their appreciation by loudly applauding him. The way in which Dahlen handled himself clearly shows that he in-tends to do great work for the Brooklyns

this season. Baseball Language. Chicago Tribune. It is time that the dialect of baseball were reformed and placed upon some permanent basis. Its vocabulary changes from season "bunting," "goose eggs," "out on a fly," or "a hot grounder," and they did service year after year without losing their expressiveness. Now, however, in the reports of a single game at Cincinnati on Friday last the reader is treated to a bewildering variety of descriptive eloquence, such as "baby rollers," "connected with a slashing single," "nailers," "smashing doubles," "laced hits to center," "grassers," "negotiating for tallies," "croqueting through the legs," "stingy hits," "hittatorial honors," etc. Each season witnesses a new and picturesque assortment of these phrases. Would it not be well for the managers when they lay out their season's scheduler to fix upon a descriptive scheme also which shall be the formal language of the game for a given time-say three or five years? Once a reader has mastered the golf or the football vocabulary he is never at a loss, for it is fixed as the law of the Medes and Persians. Why should not the baseball vocabulary also be fixed with the same degree of tenure and definiteness instead of changing it each year? If the practice is to continue it will soon be necessary to have a key wherewith to decipher the hieroglyphics in the modern reporter's baseball narratives. The Boston Journal, discussing this subject, is not far from right when it says: 'We challenge one unacquainted with the baseball dialect to make any sense of an average report of the game." Natural Inquiry.
